

1    ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2            A modulated button assembly has a button and a base. The base has a receiving 3    space defined therein, two first through holes defined in a side face defining the 4    receiving space to be receivable therein two bosses on one pair of the connecting plates,
5    a second through hole defined in a side face relative to the side face having the two first 6    through holes to be receivable therein one boss of the other pair of connecting plates and 7    a push bar extending downward from a bottom of the base for engagement with a 8    deformable metal plate received in the housing of the switch.